Description

An exceptionally tall arm chair with a flaring back and yoke-shaped crest rail ending in knuckled ears, it includes a symmetrical pierced and strap-scrrolled splat. The open voluted arms rest on curved arm supports. Deep seat rails, which are through-tenoned and wedged, sit on plain cabriole legs that terminate in trifid feet. The slip seat cover is Victorian needlepoint worked with a spray of white roses and brown leaves on a green ground. The frame on the inside surface of the seat rails that supported a chamber pot has been removed.
