

Basic Detail Report

Teapot

Medium

Feldspathic stoneware

Description

A teapot with a sliding removable lid of feldspathic stoneware. The pot has a paneled ovoid body, with a floral chain gallery and an alternating acanthus and bellflower border along the shoulder. Two central panels, each with elaborate plume and flute corner treatments at top and an elaborate feathered plume border along the bottom, depict a church in a pastoral setting and romantic castle ruins, both delicately hand painted in enamel. The shaped spout and handle are highlighted with cobalt blue banding.
