Description

A landscape street scene with three two-story houses facing a road in the foreground that curves to the right.

One house has a gray roof, and the other two green roofs. All three have columned porches with red roofs. A dirt driveway joins the paved road from the left foreground. The trees surrounding the houses are largely bare in either early spring or late fall foliage. Two cars, one blue and the other gray, are parked in front of the houses, with a staked farm wagon between them. A human figure walks between the blue car and wagon, headed for the artist's vantage point. The sky is a mottled gray.
