Medium

Cherry, hard pine, mahogany veneer, maple and birch inlays

Description

A very tall corner cupboard in two parts. The upper section contains a broken scroll pediment, with a turned urn finial atop a central plinth ornamented with an oval inlay. The pediment scroll is highlighted by string inlays ending in circular fan paterae at the scroll terminals. A pair of arched glass doors contain ten panes each, the upper third following the curve of the door arch. They open to reveal a faded blue-green painted interior and three fixed shelves. The doors are flanked by pilasters delicately inlaid with curving leafy scrolls beneath curved tab panels. The corners of the upper case are also canted. The lower section also includes canted corners, and an applied waist molding with a checkered band of inlay above a row of three small drawers, all with inlaid edges.

The left and right drawers are equipped with single brass oval pulls, while the center drawer has an inverted teardrop inlaid escutcheon. Beneath the drawers are two rectangular flat panel doors with central oval inlays and string inlays set into frames with light wood molded inner edges. Below the doors are two simple bracket feet which curve into a central inlaid half fan paterae skirt pendant.
