Description

A woman's loose-fitting dressing gown of twill weave cotton in a bold print of orange "O"s on a black ground. The dressing gown is constructed with a round neck and a front closure with six black cotton-covered buttons to the waist. The gown's dropped shoulder seams are piped, with long shaped sleeves ending in false cuffs edged with solid black banding. The gown's skirt edge is bound with narrow black cotton fabric. A pair of patch pockets are set askew at the left and right hips, with false pointed flaps edged with black banding and a single large black button. The gown is unlined and contains no maker's mark or tag.
