

Calash

Medium

Silk, linen, reed

Description

A woman's collapsible bonnet known as a calash, of green silk, lined with openweave linen. six reed hoops run through casing channels, sewn to an attached ruffle at the neck. The front edge of the calash is trimmed with a shallow piped ruffle. A large green silk ribbon bow is sewn to the center back panel. The calash includes a portion of what appears to be the original neck tie ribbons, and a later green silk ribbon retainer loop.

Dimensions

12 in. (30.5 cm)