A woman's dress, of dark olive green silk velvet. The gown is constructed with a draped neckline with a weighted tab sewn to the inside neck edge, forming the proper draping. The bias-cut bodice and skirt are sewn together along the waist with a V seam. The gown's elbow-length sleeves are of golden yellow voided velvet over pale brown silk crepe lining, the edges of the sleeve gathered and sewn to the lining to create gathers and puffs. The gown's skirt is ankle-length and flares slightly towards the hem. The gown closes with a single button and loop at the keyhole back neckline.
