Rubberized canvas, cotton webbing, steel, zinc, rubber tubing

Description

A military issue life vest of ochre yellow rubberized sturdy cotton canvas, in two layers. The vest fits over the wearer's head, with two large front panels, able to be inflated through two small gasket and tube nozzles located between the panels at the right and left hip. Two short woven black cotton tug cords hang from the assemblies. A 1 1/4" sturdy cotton canvas webbing strip wraps around the wearer's waist and fastens with a buckle strap at the wearer's proper right side. An additional strip is sewn to the bottom front seam of the canvas panels and is meant to wrap between the wearer's legs, fastening with a loop and snap to the waist strap, keeping the vest from riding up around the wearer's face.
