Across the Hall

Primary Maker

Henry Thomas Gulick

Medium

Oil on masonite

Description

View looking across a hallway into another room. There are three steps in the foreground leading to the level of the hallway, which has a large wardrobe on the left, a three-slat rush-bottom chair to its right, and strip carpeting on the floor. A portion of a painting can be seen hanging on the wall on the extreme right edge of the work. Through the doorway, a glimpse of a parlor can be seen, with a red-upholstered rocking chair shown prominently in front of a carved fireplace mantle on which is placed a porcelain teapot. A fireboard decorated with apples closes the fireplace itself, and another landscape painting hangs above the mantle. A portion of a Christmas cactus can be seen behind the rocking chair.
