Description

Three-quarter view of a three bay, two story structure with a two bay gable end and a gambrel roof with flaring eaves. Two chimneys extend above the ridge line at the gable ends, and a small cupola sits in the center of the ridge line. There are two steps at the front door of the structure, which has a fence extending behind it from the left hand rear corner. Two large trees appear in the foreground to the right of the building, with three stones on the ground in front of them. Two more stones are on the opposite side of a pathway that leads past the building from lower left to the right edge of the painting. More trees can be seen in the distance.
