Description

Small pencil sketch of an elderly woman facing left in profile. She has hooded eyes, a sharp nose, and a thin-lipped appearance that suggests the loss of most or all of her teeth. She wears a close-fitting simple cap, gathered at the back of the head and trimmed with a single edging ruffle around the face. It appears to fasten under the chin with narrow string ties. The subject wears a shawl or kerchief draped over her shoulders, worn rather high on the back of the neck, and apparently tucked into the front of the sitter's dress neckline. A sketchy depiction of a rolled or turned chair back appears at the lower right corner of the portrait. Retains its original frame.
